Turning America Socialist One Vote At A Time

INTRO: Stop the Ballot Madness! Today's US electronic vote system, used in Trump v. Biden, including swing states (<https://www.worldtribune.com/flashback-soros-linked-firm-used-in-venezuela-supplied-voting-machines-to-16-states-in-2016/>), was originally designed, funded and deployed in communist Venezuela (<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Smartmatic#History>). Co-owned by the Venezuelan government and state-owned Bitza software. CIA reported in first use, Smartmatic falsified an election for dictator Hugo Chavez (<https://en.panampost.com/gabriela-moreno/2020/11/11/smartmatic-usa-election/>) to stymie a recall. Says NY Times (<https://www.nytimes.com/2006/10/29/washington/29ballot.html>):

"Smartmatic was a little-known firm with no experience in voting technology before it was chosen by the Venezuelan authorities to replace the country's elections machinery ahead of a contentious referendum that confirmed Mr. Chávez as president in August 2004."

Does Smartmatic still sabotage elections?

Smartmatic: Banana Republicans: So, the first Smartmatic machine was designed to cheat residents in a banana republic to keep a dangerous dictator in power. Smartmatic vote machines are owned and run by Geo Soros' lieutenant Lord Mark Malloch Brown and Venezuelan computer engineer Antonio Mugica (<https://en.panampost.com/gabriela-moreno/2020/11/11/smartmatic-usa-election/>). This company then circled the globe, including America, selling Smartmatic vote systems. But a Filipina Senator (<https://www.manilatimes.net/2020/10/10/news/national/marcos-warns-of-another-smartmatic-situation/778491/>) wants to know, "how a foreign firm hounded by controversy won the bid to set up the national ID system of Philippines." Venezuelan Voting Machine: A NY Times article stated: (<https://www.nytimes.com/2006/10/29/washington/29ballot.html>)

"The federal government is investigating takeover last year of a leading American manufacturer of electronic voting systems by a small software company linked to the leftist Venezuelan government of President Hugo Chávez. The inquiry is focusing on the Venezuelan owners of the software company, the Smartmatic Corporation, trying to determine whether the government in Caracas has any control or influence over the firm's operations."

Smartmatic Adopted by Tyrant: Dictator Hugo Chavez chose Smartmatic (<https://maloney.house.gov/media-center/press-releases/smartmatic-announces-sale-sequoia-voting-systems>), despite – or perhaps because of – being the company's first time providing election machines. Smartmatic joined with Venezuelan software company, Bitza (<https://maloney.house.gov/media-center/press-releases/smartmatic-announces-sale-sequoia-voting-systems>). So, given the machine's origins, purpose, record, and abilities, Is there any chance Smartmatic did not help throw this election?

"Seven months before that voting contract was awarded, a Venezuelan government financing agency invested $200,000+ into a smaller technology company, owned by the same people as Smartmatic, joined with Smartmatic as a minor partner in the bid. In return, the government agency was given a 28% stake in the smaller company and a seat on its board, which was occupied by a senior government official who had previously advised Mr. Chávez on elections technology. "

In 2007, Smartmatic added a million fake votes to another Venezuela election.

CIA Investigates Foreign Vote Fraud: The Smartmatic communist partnership raised red flags (<https://www.nytimes.com/2006/10/29/washington/29ballot.html>). In the actual Venezuela 2004 vote, Chavez faced recall, behind 40% to 60% in polling. Yet, in the election, Chavez squeaked out a 52%-48% win. Wrote McClatchy (<https://www.mcclatchydc.com/news/politics-government/article24530650.html#storylink=cpy>): "Appearing last month before a U.S. Election Assistance Commission field hearing in Orlando, Fla., a CIA cybersecurity expert suggested that Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez and his allies fixed a 2004 election recount." Smartmatic is apparently not proud of Venezuela's 2004 (<https://www.smartmatic.com/us/about/our-history/>) vote, since their history strangely omits this damning info.

CIA: Smartmatic's FIRST Election Was Rigged: Computer voting expert Steve Stigall responded (<https://www.mcclatchydc.com/news/politics-government/article24530650.html#storylink=cpy>), telling the Election Assistance Commission that "computerized electoral systems are vulnerable at 5 stages, by altering voter registration lists to posting results." Stigall added voting equipment connected to the Internet can be hacked, and machines not connected can be hacked wirelessly." McClatchy observes (<https://www.mcclatchydc.com/news/politics-government/article24530650.html#storylink=cpy>):

“When Chavez won, Venezuelan mathematicians challenged results that showed him to be consistently strong in parts of the country where he had weak support. The mathematicians found “a very subtle algorithm” that appeared to adjust the vote in Chavez’s favor.”

CONCLUSION: Connect the Dots: The US Smartmatic voting system wasn't designed in America but in communist Venezuela, first used by Dictator Hugo Chavez, sponsored by his government as co-owner, educated by Bitza state software. A mere 16 years ago. Designed and first deployed to defraud a recall election, claims CIA. Today, Venezuela is a failed nation whose people are trapped in a living hell, dying without food or medicine. This might not have happened if Smartmatic had not willfully cooperated in election fraud. Smartmatic was then deployed to America where it is now in the midst of apparent massive election fraud. So, given the machine’s origins, purpose, record, and abilities – What are the chances that Smartmatic did not help throw this election?

Election company: Venezuela result was tampered

(2 Aug 2017) The turnout figures in Venezuela’s Constituent Assembly election were “tampered with”, the director of a company that provides electoral support services to the country said on Tuesday.

Speaking in London, Antonio Mugica, the CEO and Director of Smartmatic, said the company estimated “the difference between the actual participation and the one announced by the authorities is at least one million votes”

Smartmatic was a company created by Venezuelans in Caracas providing electronic voting machines to the late President Hugo Chavez. In recent years it has branched out to provide the same services to countries across the world, while continuing to provide support for elections in Venezuela.— More... ## As Venezuela's economy struggles, some of its citizens turn to a lucrative gig: Cybercrime

—Nov. 23, 2019

Hacking efforts are particularly lucrative for Venezuelans as they are sold for cryptocurrency, a welcome alternative to the country's own currency, which has endured rapid inflation.

Cybercrime is flourishing in Venezuela as the country's deepening economic and political crisis drives thousands into the underground criminal world, according to a report released Thursday by IntSights, a global threat intelligence company.

IntSights analysts discovered large-scale and sophisticated efforts to steal personal information from people in Latin America who work for a variety of companies, such as banks and retailers, and then either sell that information online or use it to collect even more data. The hackers are based in Venezuela and neighboring countries, like Colombia, where many Venezuelan refugees have settled.—More... SEQUOIA VOTING SYSTEMS, INC. USES VOTE-COUNTING SOFTWARE DEVELOPED, OWNED, AND LICENSED BY FOREIGN-OWNED SMARTMATIC, A COMPANY LINKED TO THE VENEZUELAN GOVERNMENT OF HUGO CHÁVEZ
(<https://www.nist.gov/system/files/documents/itl/vote/SequoiaSmartmaticReport61208.pdf>)

U.S. national security is potentially at risk because software used to count votes in 20% of the country during U.S. elections is owned and controlled by a Venezuelan-run company with ties to the Venezuelan government of Hugo Chávez, which has been described as "the foremost meddler in foreign elections in the Western hemisphere." Foreign-owned and foreign-run Smartmatic's control over vote-counting software used in the voting machines of Sequoia Voting Systems, Inc. ("Sequoia" or "SVS") presents a potential national security risk now just as it did in 2006 when the U.S. Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States ("CFIUS") opened an investigation of Smartmatic's ownership of Sequoia. CFIUS is a U.S. government inter-agency committee led by the U.S. Department of Treasury that addresses national security risks posed by foreign ownership of or influence over U.S. business, including companies providing the means by which voters in the U.S. elect their President and Congressional Representatives. Rather than answer to CFIUS
