Hi Sherrie,

We reached out to the Courts Administration, who subsequently reached out to the judge. The judge said that you are welcome to contact her. We don't have a problem with it. Her email is mmchristiansen@utcourts.gov.

I hope that helps.

Hi Justin & Derek,

We are not able to fit the entire name of Judge Michele M. Christiansen Forster on one line on our ballot. It must be in a 10 pt. font according to law, so her name as it is will not fit on one line.

We have two options - We could list her entire name as it is and it will wrap to the next line, or I can ask her permission to eliminate her middle initial on the ballot and her name will fit on one line.

(Do you have a concern with not including her middle initial if she gives us permission to list it that way?)

If you do not see a problem with us eliminating her middle initial if she gives me permission to do so, do you have contact information where I might reach her (email address and/or phone number)?

These are examples of what it would look like if we list her name with her initial and if we eliminate her initial.

There are two other judges whose names are so long that "Shall" will also be on the line above and their names will be listed on the next line. At least we can fit their names on one line though.

Thank you,

Hi Pam,

We're working on adding new language to the pages, and we're considering adding a bullet point telling users to visit their county clerk's website for more information on drive-up voting. However, I wanted to note:

- The first three points are already on the vote.utah.gov website in multiple areas (such as the COVID-19 link on the front page of vote.utah.gov).
- The sixth point is slightly incorrect, as vehicles in line at a drive-up voting station at 8:00 pm may vote at the drive-up voting station (see lines 293-294 of HB3006). If you're issuing ballots and directing people to a drop box, you will need to ensure that vehicles in line at the drive-up location will be able to cast their ballot after 8:00 pm.

I understand that drive-up counties may have slightly different procedures for issuing the ballot and the methods to deposit ballots. However, there are slight variations on how counties run regular polling locations as well. Some use machines for all voters, others use machines primarily for accessibility, the voting machines may differ by county, etc. The purpose of vote.utah.gov is to simply inform voters where they can vote and provide high-level information on how they can vote. If voters arrive at a location, then poll workers should be able to provide additional instructions on how the voter may cast their ballot.

Question. Can you do rank choice voting by having the voters vote for 1 person only? The winning candidate must receive at least 50% + 1 votes. So, they drop the lowest vote getters until the top vote getter has at least 50% + 1 of the remaining votes.

Here's the instruction for appointing our new Sheriff: Voting will be one round of ranked choice voting. The winning candidate must receive at least 50% plus one vote. The voting service will allow only a single vote per voter. In the unlikely event of a tie, the winner will be decided by a nine-person temporary committee of party leadership who will meet one time for only that purpose.

I'm sharing it because it's good to be familiar with the arguments that RCV proponents may use. It gets way into the weeds, and although STAR voting isn't an option in Utah, some of the arguments could be used with Approval Voting. Specifically, here are the more technical concerns that they feel RCV solves better than STAR or Approval Voting:

- Later-no-harm criterion (this is probably the biggest differentiator between RCV and Approval Voting). Here's how they describe this criterion: if a voter is permitted to express preferences on multiple candidates, then expressing preferences beyond a voter's favorite candidate should not harm the favorite candidate.
- Condorcet Criterion. the Condorcet candidate is the one that would beat every other candidate in a head-to-head race.

2020FL0317_007 - 2020FL0317 (Protected) version 7 - Election Amendments

1. This draft should have all of the changes we agreed on, except:

We discussed possibly combining some language relating to ballots for a presidential primary with language for other ballots, because there may have been some duplication of language. I had difficulty determining which language you were saying should be combined. We need to talk about this further if you want me to make any changes to that.

2. I added sections as necessary due to needed cross-reference and terminology changes.

We want to make sure the clerks can still mail out ballots up to seven days before the election, so I don't think the 14 days helps out with that problem. The counties can probably weigh on better than I can on that though.

This poll sent shivers down my spine. If 22% of Utah voters plan to vote in person on election day, our vote centers will be absolutely overrun, and we'll see lines worse than 2016.

Weber's equipment's capacity can handle about 14K in-person voters. This 22% estimate would be at almost double that number – an absolute disaster.

Anything additional the state can do to help push people to vote by mail/drop box? Maybe you strongly message long, long lines on election day?

Help!

Thanks,

Thank you, and thanks for your quote & consistent messaging. I didn't mean to imply you're not doing enough, but with this estimate, I'm wondering if we need to more aggressively warn people that there will be very long lines on election day. That's my consistent warning when voters have questions about in-person voting.

I like that the Utah GOP is planning to encourage voting by mail. Hopefully that will offset things a bit.

Thanks again,

Subject: RE: List of Bills as of Feb. 17

Here is the information I talked about this morning. I looked at the information in 20A-20-302 and it aligns with and does not conflict with what we are asking them to consider. Subsection 5 is the main part. Please add your thoughts and ideas to this email thread. I think there would be two letters that go out. One to the commission that only contains the principles of redistricting we would like them to follow and the other to the legislature that also contains our legislative asks. I think we could send it out to the commission any time and wait until after the session to give it to the legislature so they have less on their plate.

Does anyone want to take a crack at drafting the letters and I can work on refining the lists and legislative asks?

Principles of redistricting

1. Districts should be drawn in relation to existing geo political boundaries over following census blocks so that they follow existing boundaries in the following order of precedence:
  - a. County boundaries
  - b. City boundaries
  - c. School District boundaries
  - d. Roadway and railroad centerlines
  - e. Geographical features such as rivers, lake, ridgelines, power lines, pipelines, etc.
  - f. Parcel lines
2. District boundaries should include a written description that defines what boundaries are to be followed.
3. Districts should not be drawn through existing buildings such as apartment complexes and should not leave small orphaned areas with little or no population that are isolated from the rest of a district.

Experts Say Utah's Ranked-Choice Voting Method For Multi-Seat Races Favors The Majority Over Proportional Representation

KUER 90.1 | By Sonja Hutson Published June 3, 2021 at 5:26 PM MDT

Ranked-choice voting lets voters choose candidates in order of preference. If no one gets a majority of votes, the person with the fewest is eliminated. The process continues until there's a winner.

For elections with multiple seats up for grabs — like a city council race with two open seats — Utah uses a different method of ranked-choice voting than other states. Experts say Utah's way of doing it helps out the majority party or majority political ideology.

Ranked-choice voting lets people choose candidates in order of preference. If no one gets a majority of votes, the person with the fewest is eliminated. The process continues until there's a winner.

Under the state's method, a race with two open seats would allow ballots to be counted twice.

"The Utah system is just like having separate elections for each of the seats, as if the previous election hadn't happened," said Tyler Jarvis, a math professor at Brigham Young University.

Say 51% of voters align one way ideologically and all vote the same: Candidate A as their first choice, Candidate B as their second choice, Candidate C as their third and Candidate D as their fourth. The other 49% of voters rank them in the opposite order. Candidate A would win the first seat.

Under Utah's method, all the ballots that ranked candidate A first would be counted again while trying to decide who wins the second seat.

Jarvis said because most people's second choice would be ideologically similar to their first, this method favors the majority party or political ideology. In this scenario, 51% of people would get both candidates they wanted the most (A and B) and 49% of people would get both candidates they liked the least (A and B).

First, I'd like to see exactly how many lines this would add to a 3-column ballot. Can someone program that and let me know? I'm guessing it's 3 lines.

Then we can calculate what that would have done to the 2020 ballot (pushed a 2nd card for SLCo and Davis Co, and possibly Utah and Weber as well).

All we need is cost info at this point. The group has already voted to oppose the bill. There will be a fiscal impact to the LG's office as well.

Thanks,

best argument we have when it comes to the current situation and Winder's bill, so if we want to address it from that aspect, the document will look dramatically different. I saw their request as more of a theoretical discussion on the pros and cons.

Finally, Since their questions are about RCV generally and not Winder's bill, I didn't include any comments about consistency for the voter. Consistency is the

And do they want to separate the BM discussion from the RCV discussion?

I realize this is WAY too long (1,100 words). I'll work on creating a short version tomorrow. Do we know approximately how many words they're looking for?

Here's a first stab. Would love any feedback!

is scanned and the voter is immediately given credit in the database for having returned their ballot. If a voter doesn’t receive their ballot or ruins their ballot and requests a new one, the ballot that was originally ordered for that voter is spoiled in the database. That ID number is printed on the return envelope. When a ballot is returned by the voter, only for active registered voters, and each ballot is assigned a unique ballot ID number correlated to a voter in the database. That ID number is printed on the envelope. When a ballot is returned by the voter, the ID number on the envelope is extracted or listed to the printer. Ballots are ordered ballot ID numbers provide. You mentioned the ballot ID number and my version is lengthy, so you may want to keep your shorter version.

I think your responses are excellent. I had just one comment as a clarification, and it is in the attachment. I had written this about our ballot ordering process and the controls

Mathematics and Physics Tutoring. The subjects of mathematics and physics are general learning subjects which have been chosen. There are many more subjects of interest but most of them are not available in higher grades. In some cases, they are not available in lower ones either. This is why I have chosen to focus on the subjects of mathematics and physics. I have chosen to focus on these subjects because they are the most important subjects in the world.

I am very grateful for the generous offer for us to possibly use the Vivint Smart Home Arena and Megaplex Theaters as polling locations for the November General Election.

We are finalizing the Primary Election and it will be certified on July 21st. We will reach out to you to set up a time to discuss this with you toward the end of July if that is alright with you.

Thank you very much.

Best wishes,

Hello Sherrie,

I know you and your team are incredibly busy and thank you for all you're doing to serve our citizens.

The NBA has asked its teams to explore the possibility of using our arenas for polling locations. I would expand that to include our Megaplex theatres.

We obviously don't know what November will look like with Covid. I do know that we recently held a successful public blood drive at Vivint Smart Home Arena with all social distancing guidelines in place.

We would love to volunteer our facilities and be of help.

Do you or someone on your staff have time for a conversation?

Many thanks to you, and to Justin!
