

Rep Teuscher said that Winder might amend his bill to have RCV for General elections, and totally eliminate primary elections, and that he would pair it with a bill that is forthcoming from McCay that would alter the QPP signature-gathering requirements.

We should probably start thinking about what such a change would do to our strategy, especially our argument for consistency.

Hi Ricky,

When we order a different ballot for a voter whether it is because they changed their party, lost their ballot or damaged it (yes, we have already had some of those), we spoil the ballot in VISTA that they had been sent. If the voter returns the spoiled ballot, it would be kicked out or rejected by AGILIS. That is what I explained to Lee Davidson today and Robert Gehrke. However, I didn't speak for other counties. I told Lee that I don't know if any of the other counties are in the same situation with the non-partisan primaries taking place simultaneously with the partisan primaries.

The most confusing part of this for voters has been that we had to order the unaffiliated voters non-partisan ballots for the 4 local school board contests. Our vendor required our 281,000 ballot orders to be placed on May 15th. In the meantime, thousands of voters have been affiliating, but all the non-partisan ballots were delivered the week of June 9th. So, the voters who had changed their affiliation but received the non-partisan ballot with only the school board race on it, are calling and emailing and wondering if their affiliation change didn't get made.

Not sure if we need to do something about this or not, but Huntsman's campaign has an error, I believe. I doubt it was intentional, they probably misunderstood the nuanced timing that was well explained by Sherrie. Here's the part that I think is misleading.

If you happened to have already completed and sent in the nonpartisan ballot before receiving your Republican ballot, do not worry. You still have the option to complete and send in your Republican ballot as soon as it arrives in your mailbox. Your county clerk will then ensure that the nonpartisan ballot you may have sent in will not count. Instead, they will count your Republican ballot.

That certainly is true IF the voter spoils the ballot before we scan the envelope, but this ad doesn't say that. I think it may lead voters to think that they could cancel it any time; and we would spoil the ballot.

Anyway, just thought I'd share.

Thanks,

R.

Dear Ricky,

As ballots continue to drop in mailboxes throughout the state, please make sure that your ballot lists "Jon Huntsman" and "Michelle Kaufusi." If you are a registered Republican and receive a ballot that doesn't have mine and Michelle's name listed, please contact your county clerk right away by visiting www.huntsman2020.com/countyclerks

Contact your county clerk

If you recently switched from Unaffiliated to Republican, you may have been sent a nonpartisan ballot. If you happened to have already completed and sent in the nonpartisan ballot before receiving your Republican ballot, do not worry. You still have the option to complete and send in your Republican ballot as soon as it arrives in your mailbox. Your county clerk will then ensure that the nonpartisan ballot you may have sent in will not count. Instead, they will count your Republican ballot.

The same process applies to Democrats who may have switched to Republican. If you happen to have already completed and sent in your Democratic ballot, you can still send in

It's just a timing issue.

Ballots were mailed by the June 9 deadline, and reflect registration status when mailings were prepared. But people who recently switched party registration to Republican, will indeed get the GOP ballots they want and the initial ballots without Republican races have been automatically voided.

"We've had lots of phone calls and emails because you know that this happens every primary. It happened in the presidential primary" in March, said Salt Lake County Clerk Sherrie Swensen. She's also sent emails to people who recently switched party status to explain the situation.

She explains that to have ballots mailed by the legal June 9 deadline, she had to send vendors lists of how people were registered as of May 15 — as did most other counties.

"But there have been a lot of changes since then," she notes.

For example, former Democratic state senator Jim Dabakis urged Democrats to switch affiliation just for the primary to have a voice in the heavily Republican state for the many races here that are essentially decided in the GOP primary. Democratic leader Kem Gardner also wrote a Tribune op-ed urging the same saying the real Utah governor's race is in June, not November, given that a Democrat hasn't been elected to the office in 40 years.

prosperity in every corner of our incredible state. I am running for governor to lead Utah to greater heights than ever before and I ask for your vote.

You should have received your ballot in the mail this week and I encourage you to vote for the Huntsman/Kaufusi ticket. Due to the impact of the coronavirus, county clerks in all 29 counties mailed ballots to hundreds of thousands of registered voters.

As a result, experts are expecting that voter turnout will be higher than usual. Make sure you don't miss out on this incredible opportunity to make your voice heard! For more coverage on this election cycle's likely historic voter turnout, please click here to read the KSL article.

Would recommend we follow the same logic we would if they were to walk into a vote center. We wouldn't automatically hand a registered Republican a Democratic ballot. Would we automatically hand an Unaffiliated voter a Democratic ballot? If not, we probably shouldn't automatically mail them a ballot either. Rather, we should ask them (via a letter) if they would like to receive a Dem ballot.

This decision should stand whether or not the GOP has a primary. If we automatically mail Dem ballots to unaffiliated voters in the Pres. Primary, will we do the same thing for the regular primary, even if there's a Republican primary? I think we would probably want to send the Unaffiliateds a letter in that case.

Dear County Clerks,

In just two weeks we will know which candidates, and which political parties, will be on the March 3 presidential primary ballot. We have had several candidates declare for the Democratic primary but only one candidate declare for the Republican primary. Unless another candidate declares for the Republican primary, there is a possibility that you will only need to hold a Democratic primary election.

As you know, the Democratic party has an open primary, meaning any voter can vote in that primary. I want to get your feedback on what we should do as a state if there is only a Democratic primary. Should the Democratic ballot be mailed to all voters since all voters are eligible to vote? Since we have the funding for a full election covering the cost of sending all voters a ballot would not be a problem. We will want to be untied if this becomes an issue and be consistent when it comes to who gets a ballot in the mail.

Good morning,

I don't believe this happens in Utah, but a legislator reached out to me with concerns so I told him I would double-check. We want to do whatever we can to give people confidence in voting by mail.

There is a video circulating on social media that shows by mail ballot envelopes and included in the barcode number is an R or a D. The video claims this shows a voter's party affiliation and a malicious actor could identify R or D ballots and make sure they never arrive. (See link to story here.) I've also attached a screenshot of the envelopes the legislator sent to me.

Does any county have any kind of affiliation indication on their envelope?

Subject: Re: [EXTERNAL]Hinckley Forum: Election Security & Voting Rights. Potential Topics

Frank,
I've included below some thoughts I put together for the Tribune last month. Comments about Fraud, Advantages and Drawbacks of voting by mail. Sorry it's so long - feel free to skip some or even all of it. There are links to several studies and articles that may be helpful.

Looking forward to it!
R.

The voters who will have problems are those who do not have current registration info with their election official. If you want to make sure you get a ballot in time, make sure your address and registration status are current. It's easy – in most states, you can look up and update that info online.

Many states have ballot drop boxes that completely bypass the Postal Service. In fact, a 2017 EAC report found that the majority of by-mail ballots are returned by means other than the Postal Service.

We've been voting by mail in UT since 2012. In 2016, President Trump won Utah's electoral votes in a by-mail election.

Discouraging people from voting by mail will harm President Trump's own campaign effort, as voting by mail increases turnout by 5-7 %. Down-ballot Republican candidates will suffer as well. Pres. Trump's effort to convince his base not to use VBM essentially functions opposite of a get-out-the-vote effort.

- Fraud? How many problems do we have? What type? What steps now help prevent it (signature matching, etc.). When election fraud occurs, it is much more likely to be voter registration fraud rather than voting fraud. People registering at an address that they don't live at, not updating their address and still voting, etc. Studies nationwide have repeatedly shown virtually no election fraud occurring. Here's a good resource on fraud: <https://www.heritage.org/voterfraud>. In 2018, Weber County identified 18 people (out of about 85,000 ballots cast) who, in our opinion, blatantly attempted to vote twice. Our controls prevented each of them from actually voting twice. Working with our County Attorney, we had the FBI contact and interrogate every voter. Because this is an open case, we can't comment further, but know this: election officials, county attorneys, and the FBI are keen on identifying, preventing, and prosecuting election fraud. To prevent fraud, the signature matching is a key control (EVERY signature is compared, not just a sample). Our election judges are trained in handwriting analysis. Another control is that we record the voter's envelope upon receipt in our statewide voter database, so a voter couldn't vote in more than one county. We're one of 30 states that belong to an organization called ERIC (<https://ericstates.org/>), which checks for voters who register in more than one state. Return envelopes have unique IDs known only to our voter registration database, so for someone to successfully create replacement envelopes, they would need access to that system. Ballots are printed on special paper and have unique characteristics that make it almost impossible to duplicate. Several counties have machines that can tell if an envelope is not the original envelope sent to the voter, or if two ballots are included in one elections in 2020. Our vote center in March processed the same number of in-person voters as our November, 2019 election (which had six vote centers), and the longest wait was 7 minutes. Regarding cost, two benefits come to mind: reduced cost and predictable costs. In 2005, the state purchased voting equipment for in-person voting. It spent about $27M. In 2018, we had to replace the equipment. Even with inflation, the new equipment only cost $13M statewide, because we replaced our in-person equipment with centralized processing equipment. Election budgets have peaks and valleys, depending on the year and the voter turnout. Presidential elections are always the highest spikes, and municipal elections are always the valleys. VBM mostly eliminates these budget swings. I compared the cost per active voter for Weber County voters in 2018, the year we replaced our equipment. A polling-place based model would have cost $2.45 per active voter. The VBM model cost $1.44 per active voter.

- Others? All counties use drop boxes for voters to return ballots. Drop boxes offer a few benefits: 1) they don't require postage, 2) the ballots go directly to the election office, rather than through the postal service. Weber County has 21 drop boxes (one at each city, one at each county library, and one on Weber State University's campus). We analyzed the distance of every voting household to the nearest drop box. The average distance was 1.5 miles. Drop boxes are convenient and secure, locked when not in use. We also have equipment in them than can snuff out a fire inside the box without damaging the ballots. More voters in Weber County use the drop boxes than the USPS. Since Weber doesn't provide prepaid return postage, drop boxes save county taxpayers about $50K per year.

Voters love the convenience, especially older voters, voters with busy schedules, voters with disabilities, and voters who commute/travel a lot. A 2016 Weber State survey of 1,600 voters found that 2/3 of all voters preferred to either mail their ballot or drop in in a drop box, and 70% supported the county's choice to move to VBM.

Problems:

- Delay in results - except for the June primary (which necessitated quarantining ballots and had an election day postmark deadline), most counties include 80-90% of the total ballots cast in their election night report. Yes, that percentage is still less than a polling place model would provide (probably 95% on election night); however, with VBM, the results that are reported on election night are a hugely statistically representative sample of the full election. Percentage points rarely shift by more than 1% between election night and the canvass. With the periodic releasing of results after election day, most counties release their updated results by the Friday after election day, and these account for close to 100% of the total results. Even in June, with the quarantining of ballots, when Weber County received almost 50% of its ballots too late to include in the election night reports, our updated report on the Thursday after the election accounted for 97% of all ballots cast.

- Extra ballots could be in circulation (adding risk for fraud) if ballots are sent to inactive voters? Does that happen here, or do ballot go just to active voters? Utah mails ballots only to active voters. However, extra ballots don't pose extra risk, because our system allows for only one ballot to be counted. I could mail you ten ballots, and you could return them all, plus try to vote in person. Our system would only allow the first ballot in - the rest, including your in-person attempt, would be rejected. Each envelope has a number that is unique to that voter and that specific ballot. If a voter requests another ballot, we spoil the number of the first ballot, and even if they tried to return it, our system would flag it as spoiled. One other huge benefit of VBM - our voter rolls are squeaky clean. A 2012 Brennan Center report found that one in eight registrations was invalid or significantly inaccurate (<https://www.brennancenter.org/sites/default/files/publications/Case%20Voter%20Registration%20Modernization.pdf>). I think that number was low. In 2013, when Weber County conducted its first by-mail election, almost 20% of our ballots were returned undeliverable, meaning 20% of our active voters had moved and we didn't know it. On average, about 16% of voters move each year. VBM allows us to scrub our voter rolls every election to reduce extra ballots and unnecessary ballots. In contrast to our 20% undeliverables in 2013, our undeliverable percentage in June's primary election was just 0.8%. Squeaky clean! Counties periodically run their voter lists through the National Change of Address database to proactively identify people who have moved. Then we contact them and help them update their registration.

Thanks Frank.

Here's a quick discussion on NPR that talks about the possible shift from a Republican-heavy in-person vote to a Democratic vote after mail ballots are counted. This is the first time I've heard the terms "red mirage" and "blue shift." Full story: <https://www.upr.org/post/trump-wont-promise-peaceful-transfer-power-after-election>

"I think what the president seems to be doing is to say, as he has done in the past, especially for elections in Florida in 2018, that the only - the election night tally should be accepted. Any outstanding mail-in ballots that often take days, sometimes weeks, to count shouldn't count. And it's possible that he's laying the groundwork to say the election should be over on election night if he has a lead in the mail-in ballots. Sometimes this is called the red mirage because more Republicans will vote in person; more Democrats will vote by mail. But then over time, as votes are counted, you get something, like, that's called a blue shift. It happened in 2018. And the president sounds like he's getting ready to challenge the results of the election."

Everyone, thank you again for a great preparatory call. Even though I am on old political hack, I really treasure how much I learn from all of you each time we interact.

I have prepared a outline of issues for us to cover on Monday. I incorporated some of the great thoughts that Ricky provided in this email earlier today.

Of course, we're not wedded to all this and feel free to take the discussion a different direction.

Subject: [EXTERNAL]UPDATE: U.S. to remain in UPU

Hello all!

Writing to you today with an exciting (we hope!) update on the Universal Postal Union (UPU) agreement.

Earlier today, the Trump Administration announced it had reached an agreement with the UN, meaning that the U.S. is expected to remain in the UPU.

During the UPU session, stakeholders were able to reach a compromise to reform the UN's fee structure. Under the deal, starting January 2021, the U.S. and other countries that import large quantities of mail and packages from other countries are allowed to begin "self-declared rates" on distribution of mail from foreign countries. Additionally, countries with more than 75,000 tons in mail imported annually – mainly the U.S. – may apply their "self-declared rates" starting July 2020.

A couple of articles on the decision are below – happy to talk more in depth if any of you would like to!

Thanks for checking.

Not a fan of requiring a county to employ a certain voting methodology.

Also worried that the funding would be there for a couple of years, and then be revoked, leaving counties the choice of paying themselves or telling voters they have to "go back" to how things were done before.

But, it would be nice to try out the various platforms in a smaller, more controlled environment.

I'd love to get the thoughts of others – I'm sure I'm missing some considerations.

Senator Bramble is curious what your thoughts would be if he substituted the mobile voting pilot bill with an expansion of online voting for UOCAVA voters. Right now any county could opt in, but he's wondering what your thoughts would be if larger counties had to offer online voting whether Voatz, Democracy Live, or some other platform. I told him there would have to be funding attached for it to even be considered. Thoughts?

Subject: Ranked Choice Voting - need to contact vendors

We need to contact the main voting machine vendors to see if they have received EAC certification for any of their systems that also can do ranked choice voting. Would any of you be willing to contact the following vendors to see if they have any certifications?

- Dominion:
- ES&S:
- Everyone Counts:
- Hart:
- Clear Ballot: Ryan (voluntold)

As of last year this time, only one system (Unisyn) has EAC certification for a system that allows ranked choice voting. If this is going to be one of our main arguments against Rep. Robert's amendment to HB334, we should make sure our facts are correct. I checked on the EAC site and found that Hart InterCivic also appears to have an EAC certification for a system that has ranked choice voting functionality. The results are as follows, but I'm not sure I've looked at all of the right documents.

EAC Certified, but NOT for Ranked Choice

- Dominion's Voting Democracy Suite 4.0 and Assure 1.3.
- ES&S's EVS 5.0 and Unity 3 series
- MicroVote EMS

EAC Certified, INCLUDING Ranked Choice functionality

- Hart InterCivic's Verity Voting 1.0
- Unisyn's OpenElect

Clear Ballot doesn't even appear on the EAC site. What's up with that?

Please let me know if you can contact any of these vendors. I have a call into the NCSL and the EAC.

Thanks,

R.

Good afternoon,

Duchesne County received the following GRAMA request, and I'm curious if any other counties have received similar requests recently or in the past, and if so how you responded.

"On February 3rd we received a GRAMA request regarding 2020 Presidential Election ballots. We've been asked to provide: " All ballots submitted by voters for the 2020 election in the Duchesne County , Utah to include Federal, State County,Judicial and amendments, with signatures." At this time we are not sure how to fulfill this request. Should we make copies of the approximate 10,000ballots we received (are they public record?) Also is the envelope with the signature a private record? We could not find any reference under Utah GRAMA Law not the Utah Election Code."

Subject: Caucus, Convention, Political Parties, and Election Experts

Hi everyone, and happy filing day!

Heads up: you likely have heard that the two main state political parties have canceled their state conventions. This certainly presents a challenge for them to run their elections, and they have approached a few county elections folks for advice and possibly for assistance. Curtis, Brian, Rozan, Amelia, Ryan and I have spent a bit of our evening hours exploring election format options with the Utah Republican Party leadership, and they have also reached out to the Utah Democratic Party leadership.

Ideas that are being considered range from a VBM solution to a fully online election. Given the high number of candidates in certain races, and the fact that they can't do multiple round voting, they are also considering ranked choice voting or approval voting.

The Republican party chair has asked Amelia Powers-Gardiner to research the options. In the meetings, she has repeatedly encouraged party leadership to consult with their local county clerk, who is the elections expert in their counties.

All this detail to say, you might be getting calls from your county parties with questions. Given the last-minute nature, the complexity of the situation, and the importance to the parties to get this right, there is a chance that both parties may ask us if they can contract with us to help them administer portions of their elections. It's nice to know they trust us as election experts, but it also presents a risk, not just because we're already kind of busy, but also the perception that we're helping out the parties. If we treat all parties fairly and equally, this concern should be minimized.

Subject: minor misinformation from Huntsman campaign

Not sure if we need to do something about this or not, but Huntsman's campaign has an error, I believe. I doubt it was intentional, the probably misunderstood the nuanced timing that was well explained by Sherrie. Here's the part that I think is misleading.

If you happened to have already received your Republican ballot, do not return your Republican ballot as soon as you receive the nonpartisan ballot you mailed. The nonpartisan ballot you mailed will be counted first.

That certainly is true IF the voter has already received their Republican ballot. I think it may lead voters to think otherwise.

Anyway, just thought I'd share.
Thanks,
R.

pe, but this ad doesn't say that. I would spoil the ballot.

If you recently registered as Republican but didn't get a GOP ballot, Utah election officials say you'll get a new one

By Lee Davidson

The Salt Lake Tribune

If you are one of the thousands of Utah voters who have recently switched party registration from unaffiliated or Democrat to Republican and received a by-mail ballot this week that contained no Republican races, no need to worry, election officials say.

It's just a timing issue.

Ballots were mailed by the June 9 deadline, and reflect registration status when mailings were prepared. But people who recently switched party registration to Republican, will indeed get the GOP ballots they want and the initial ballots without Republican races have been automatically voided.

"We've had lots of phone calls and emails because you know that this happens every primary. It happened in the presidential primary" in March, said Salt Lake County Clerk to such people, "so it won't count if they send it in." And clerks send out a new one.

She said people have a deadline of June 19 to register or switch party affiliation and still receive a new by-mail ballot. Unaffiliated voters (but not Democrats) may also register as Republican at in-person election day voting centers or at early voting sites.

The biggest mistake we can make right now is to think small. My economic plan will double Utah's economy over the next ten years, creating thousands of new jobs and unprecedented prosperity in every corner of our incredible state. I am running for governor to lead Utah to greater heights than ever before and I ask for your vote. “ ”

You should have received your ballot in the mail this week and I encourage you to vote for the Huntsman/Kaufusi ticket. Due to the impact of the coronavirus, county clerks in all 29 counties mailed ballots to hundreds of thousands of registered voters.

As a result, experts are expecting that voter turnout will be higher than usual. Make sure you don't miss out on this incredible opportunity to make your voice heard! For more coverage on this election cycle's likely historic voter turnout, please click here to read the KSL article.

Make Sure You Are a Registered Republican!

You have the opportunity to make your voice heard in who leads our state through the challenges we face not just today, but for years into the future.

There are two things that you need to do in order to help us make history:

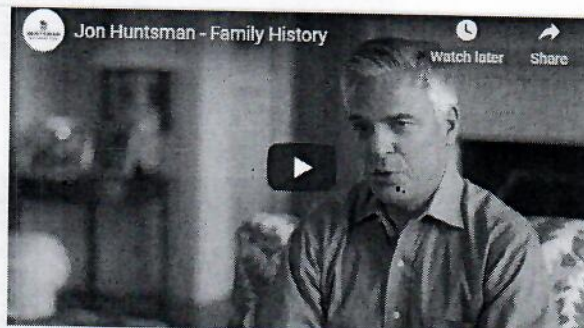

- 1.) Confirm your voter registration by visiting www.huntsman2020.com. You must be a registered Republican to vote in the June 30 primary election or you will not receive a ballot and will not be able to vote.
- 2.) Complete and submit your mail ballot as soon as you receive it. Mail ballots will be sent out from your county clerk on June 9th.

Subject: Action needed today! Regarding Ranked Choice Voting
Attachments: JOINT STATEMENT OF COUNTY CLERKS.docx
Importance: High

Legislators are getting lobbied hard to vote for the various RCV bills. If we want to defeat this, we each have to use our relationships with our legislators.

Please email your representatives and senators providing them the attached Joint Statement. Below is a draft email you are welcome to use, but please change it so it's in your voice, and is not just another form email that they will discard. It's more effective if you send this individually to each legislator and not in a group email.

Dear _____

I want to reach out to you regarding the ongoing discussion and proposed legislation related to alternative voting methods. I have had a number of discussions with my fellow Clerks, mostly related to Ranked Choice Voting, but also about a number of other alternative voting methods. I would like to share some of our perspectives as you consider the many options that are before the Legislature. Attached to this email is a joint statement from the Clerk/Auditor Association regarding alternative voting methods and the importance of consistency in elections.

Thank you for your service and consideration on this subject. If I can be of any help, please let me know.

Sincerely,

JOINT STATEMENT OF COUNTY CLERK/AUDITORS ON ELECTORAL REFORM

January 21, 2021

We the Clerk/Auditor Association of the State of Utah, provide this joint statement regarding the consideration of Electoral Reform within the State of Utah.

Electoral Reform within the State of Utah has been most recently centered in the subject of alternative voting methods, specifically Ranked Choice Voting, and has been the focus of several pieces of legislation over the past several years. Other voting methods have also been brought forward, including Approval Voting, Star Voting, and Runoff Elections, among others. These various methods of voting propose a fundamental reformation to the way our elected representatives are chosen.

Electoral Reform is not new to the State, as is evident in its transition to a primarily vote-by-mail state. During this transition the greatest lesson that was learned, was the importance in consistency in voting methods, and here lies our primary concern with the current Electoral Reform proposals.

The considerations currently being discussed, provide for only occasional, or conditional implementation of an alternative voting method. This approach is problematic as it creates different rules for different elections, it creates different processes and procedures, and changes voter's expectations from election to election.

We recognize that each alternative voting method may have its strengths and weaknesses. The county clerks have taken public positions on some of these methods, but regardless of this, if the Legislature believes an alternative voting method is needed, it is our desire that a thorough, independent, study of all alternative voting methods be conducted. That specific goals and objectives be formulated, that the best voting method be selected to meet these goals and objectives and that the selected method be fully implemented for all elections in order to instill consistency and confidence in the election process.

If change is needed to our current process, then change should be made, but let's make sure the correct change is made and that the process be consistent throughout the state and throughout every election.

As the Public Officials charged with administering our State's elections we are committed to providing fair, transparent and secure elections. We offer our support, our knowledge and expertise in this effort.

Subject: Pro RCV narrative of County Clerks attempting to undermine cities doing RCV

Here's Stan Lockhart's email to legislators, painting clerks as consciously undermining RCV efforts and basically misleading the legislature. Just so you know what their narrative is.

The bill is on the house floor calendar, so please reach out to your representatives. Whether or not this passes, Mr. Lockhart's mischaracterization hurts the reputation we have worked so hard to repair and maintain.

Thanks,
R.

Subject: HB 75 Municipal Alternative Voting Methods Pilot Project Amendments

Dear Representative _____,

HB 75 Municipal Alternative Voting Methods Pilot Project Amendments will soon be before you on the floor of the House. This bill passed out of House Government Operations Committee 10-0.

HB 75's purpose is to facilitate implementation of the ranked choice voting pilot for municipal elections. Three years ago the Legislature authorized cities to opt into ranked choice voting for municipal elections. The pilot passed overwhelmingly.
