Christina,

I agree with Tom that these are de minimis changes that do not adversely impact the performance of the system, and do not require additional examination.

Accordingly, I would recommend approval of this proposed modification.

Thanks,

Chuck,

I think the upgrade is minor and should not be a problem. The VSTL testing would have revealed an issue as long as they tested a sufficient number of precincts and ballot styles. There is also the manual verification of the ballot style by the poll worker when the card is printed.

The change from the ExpressLink 3.0.0.0 and the previous version is minor. I believe it is de minimis.

In the future, I think you should request a change-log. We should not have to try to glean the changes between versions with only the manuals.

Tom
